COURSE DESCRIPTION: The formation of European civilization, stressing social, economic, political, and cultural history from late antiquity to the fifteenth century. Designed to introduce topics in medieval history, the course begins by asking what ideas and institutions were inherited from ancient times. The course then examines Carolingian order and its breakdown before turning to distinctively European developments during the eleventh to thirteenth centuries. The course concludes with the transformations of the fourteenth century and by considering what constitutes the “medieval” legacy.

COURSE FORMAT: This course will be conducted mainly through lectures with some discussions. Students are required to attend all classes having already read and thought about the reading. Discussions will focus on primary source materials assigned for that day. Students will also write course papers based on primary source materials.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: Students will learn how premodern European society functioned, particularly its economic, political, and cultural institutions. They will be able to analyze and compare different models of historical development for the medieval period, and gain an understanding of how Europe was different from or similar to other premodern cultures. This course meets the General Education requirements in Area V, Social and Behavioral Sciences.

HONOR CODE: Students are expected to uphold the Western Michigan University standards of Academic Conduct. You are responsible for making yourself aware of and understanding the policies and procedures in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs that pertain to Academic Honesty. These policies include cheating, fabrication, falsification and forgery, multiple submission, plagiarism, complicity and computer misuse. [The policies can be found at http://catalog.wmich.edu under Academic Policies, Student Rights and Responsibilities.] If there is reason to believe you have been involved in academic dishonesty, you will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct (osc.wmich.edu). You will be given the opportunity to review the charge(s). If you believe you are not responsible, you will have the opportunity for a hearing. You should consult with your instructor if you are uncertain about an issue of academic honesty prior to the submission of an assignment or test. Students are required to maintain an electronic copy of all written assignments and must produce it if asked by the instructor. Suspect papers will be submitted electronically to online clearinghouses to prevent fraud in paper composition.

EXAMS: There will be one midterm exam on Tuesday, October 19 and a final exam on Wednesday, Dec 16 from 2:45-4:45 in the lecture hall. Each exam will cover all the readings, discussions, and lectures to date. Both exams will be essay format, with some short identifications and source-based questions. The Final Exam will also feature an essay analyzing sources. The midterm exam will count 20% of the course grade, the final 40% of the grade.

SOURCE ANALYSIS PAPER: Students will prepare a brief analysis (2 pages; 400-500 words) on an assigned question about one of the primary sources we read (Life of Charlemagne, due Sept 23 or “Investiture Conflict,” due Oct 7), which counts for 10% of the total course grade.

SHORT PAPER: Students will write a short paper (4-5 pages, 1000-1250 words) of their own design on one of the longer primary sources we read for class (Letters of Abelard and Heloise, due Nov 2 or Lais of Marie de France, Nov 16). I will suggest paper topics, assign students to groups, and hand out instructions later. You are responsible for maintaining an electronic copy of your paper after submitting it originally. This paper will count for 30% of the total course grade.

ATTENDANCE: Attendance is a required part of the course; students consistently failing to attend class without a valid, university-approved written excuse may receive an "F" for the course at the instructor's option.

GRADE COMPONENTS: Source analysis 10%; midterm exam, 20%; short paper, 30%; final exam, 40%. You must complete all elements of the course to receive a passing grade. All late submissions will be penalized, in fairness to students who complete the assignments in a timely fashion. The grade scale is as follows: 100-93 = A, 92-87 = BA, 86-83 = B, 82-77 = CB, 76-73 = C, 72-67 = DC, 67-60 = D, and less than 60 = E.

Students with Disabilities: You should register your disability with Disabled Student Resources and Services, (269-387-2116 or www.dsrs.wmich.edu). You should discuss any accommodation with them and they will give you a card listing the approved accommodation, which you should show to Prof. Berkhofer. This process should be completed by the second week of class.

Late Work: Make-up exams will be given only for valid, university-approved written excuses, at the instructor's discretion. Make-up exams must be taken as soon as possible after the original test, preferably the day the student returns to class, at a time chosen by the instructor (usually my office hours). Unexcused late papers will be penalized two full letter grades per day they are late (e.g., a "B" paper will become a "D" paper).

Email/IP Policy: Students should use their WMU email address for all correspondence related to this course. Students may not reproduce any portion of course materials (including notes on lecture) without the instructor’s express written permission.
